Introduction

At Rackenford Primary School we greatly value our reputation for caring for our pupils. We also attach great importance to working closely with parents/carers, families and our local community. From time to time things may go wrong, or appear to go wrong⁽¹⁾, and when this happens we want to discuss the problem or situation as quickly as possible in order to resolve it, learn from any mistakes and help to strengthen the understanding and relationships between all of those involved.

Who to contact and how?

Most concerns and complaints should initially be raised directly with members of staff, either in person, by telephone or in writing (letter or email). In special cases we will consider a complaint from someone on behalf of a parent or carer, but this would be if the parent/carer has language difficulties or some disability affecting communication with the school and we would need to see written consent from the actual complainant.

Complaints should be raised within 3 months of an incident (or from when you become aware of the incident), although this could be longer in exceptional circumstances.

Issues can most often be resolved informally by meeting the right member of staff. If a complaint involves a particular member of staff, or a special needs issue, it should be made directly to the Head of Federation (Executive Headteacher).

Please mark your written complaint “private and confidential”. Please provide brief written reasons for your complaint, simply detailing the facts as you have observed them and what you feel about this (we suggest using the Complaint form below).

If you are not sure who to ring or write to, the Clerk to the Governors, who is also the Complaints Administrator, is the right person to contact. We also have a nominated Complaints Governor. Complaints about the Head of School or the Executive Headteacher should be addressed to the Complaints Governor, and complaints about governors to the Clerk to the Governors. Their email addresses are to be found on the School’s website.

Although Devon’s Local Authority has no formal responsibility for resolving complaints, its officers can provide advice and guidance to both schools and parents. Mediation is sometimes helpful, especially where there is a special needs issue. The LA is at County Hall Exeter and the general phone number is 01392 383000.

(1) There are various policies on the School website which you may find helpful in clarifying School procedures and objectives. These include for example Anti-bullying, Attendance, Behaviour, Health and Safety, Safeguarding and Equality.

The school has a legal duty of care which requires that any complaint brought to its attention which suggests that a child has been or might be at risk of significant harm through violence, emotional abuse, sexual interference or neglect, may be referred without further notice to Devon's Children and Young Person's Service or to the police. If either of these decide to investigate a situation, this may postpone any investigation by the school of a particular complaint.

There are also some areas of school life where exceptions to the complaints procedure apply (See Appendix 1).

The Process

Our complaints process has four possible stages for complaints against the school, including those involving individual members of staff.

The procedures for complaining about the Head of School, Executive Headteacher or governors (whether one governor or the whole governing body) are slightly different and these are summarised separately.

- 1. Informal investigation. The staff member who has received the concern or complaint will gather any information needed. If they are themselves in some way involved it may be more appropriate to pass it on to a colleague or more senior teacher. In some cases a letter of explanation may be enough to resolve issues which are more in the nature of a concern, but otherwise a meeting will normally be arranged for an informal discussion. Parents may bring a friend or partner to such a meeting if they wish. If they feel that it is necessary for the Head of School to be involved at this stage they are welcome to ask for this.

In most cases a satisfactory conclusion will be reached at this meeting, but it may be that a need for more information emerges, making a second meeting necessary.

The final outcome will be put in writing by the staff member responsible, detailing any steps agreed to prevent similar problems arising in future. In the rare cases where no agreement proves possible, the complainant can make a formal complaint to the Executive Headteacher if they so wish (Stage 2).

Target timings; initial response within 24 hours, resolution within 10 school days.

- 2. Complaint to the Executive Headteacher. This is for complaints not resolved at stage 1 and any serious complaints against individual staff, which go straight to Stage 2.

A request for a Stage 2 complaint following on from Stage 1 should be made within 10 school days of the letter summarising the outcome of the informal investigation.

The Executive Headteacher may offer the complainant a meeting to discover what further information may be needed and who should be interviewed. Different situations will require different inputs before the Headteacher can either produce a written response or organise a further discussion meeting at which a resolution can be reached. The final response will be as full an explanation as possible of what happened, what decisions have been taken in relation to this and of any actions which will help to improve matters in future.

Complaints against staff will if appropriate be dealt with under the school's disciplinary procedures, and complainants will not be informed of any disciplinary action taken against a member of staff as a result of a complaint, although they will be informed that the matter is being addressed.

Complainants should try to limit their communication with the school while their complaint is being progressed. It is not helpful if repeated correspondence is sent, as it could delay the outcome being reached.

Target timings: a Stage 2 complaint is acknowledged within 24 hours; an initial meeting, telephone conversation or letter from the Headteacher within 5 school days and resolution of complaint within 10 school days from that point. The complainant should reply within 10 school days to say whether they are satisfied with this response.

3. Complaint referred to the Complaints Governor. If no resolution is reached at stage 2, and the complainant wishes to take the matter further, the complaint should be referred to the Complaints Governor via the school, marked for the Complaints Governor, "private and confidential".

A request for a Stage 3 complaint following on from Stage 2 should be made within 10 school days of the Executive Headteacher's letter summarising the outcome of Stage 2.

The Complaints Governor will acknowledge receipt of the complaint, assess the material from Stage 2 and decide whether other information needs to be collected within the school or from the complainant. Advice may be taken from the Local Authority or the Diocesan Board of Education. The Complaints Governor will provide a written decision as soon as is practical and will explain the reasons for any delay at this stage. If this decision does not achieve resolution, the complainant will be advised that they can ask for a hearing by a governors' committee who will consider it afresh.

Target timings: acknowledge Stage 3 complaint within 24 hours; letter of resolution to be sent 10 school days from receipt of the complainant's request to refer to Stage 3. The complainant should reply within 10 school days to say whether they are satisfied with this response or whether they wish to proceed to Stage 4.

4. A Committee hearing by a panel of three governors. If the complaint is not resolved at Stage 3, then three governors who have no personal previous knowledge of the complaint will form a panel and consider the complaint at a formal hearing. The panel may include governors from another school if necessary.

The Committee panel will elect their own chair, who will decide whether to seek the services of the Local Authority in advising on the procedure. They will be supplied with all previous written material and will interview any key members of staff or witnesses requested by the complainant which the chair agrees that the Committee should hear.

The chair will make the proceedings as informal as possible. Each side will explain their point of view and each will be able to question the other. Panel members will be able to question any participants. The complainant may bring a relative or friend in support, and a school employee may wish to bring a union representative, but generally legal representation will not be necessary for either side, and if a complainant commences legal action against the school in relation to the complaint the procedure may have to be suspended until this has been concluded. The meeting is otherwise private and representatives of the media are not permitted to attend. Recording will be allowed if the complainant's special needs require it and the chair agrees. Minutes will be taken and made available to the complainant.

At least 10 school days before the meeting the Clerk will confirm the complainant's availability, ask whether they will bring any witnesses to the hearing, and request copies of any new written material from them, while providing any new material from the school. The Committee will not however be considering any new complaints. If the complainant cannot attend and does not accept two further offers of a date, the meeting will be held without them on the basis of written submissions only.

The Committee's decision on whether to uphold all or part of the complaint, and what actions now remain to be taken, will be sent to the complainant by the Clerk within 10 school days. If the complainant is not satisfied with this and believes that the complaint has not been handled according to the school's policy, or that the school has acted unlawfully or unreasonably, they may complain to the Department of Education (School Complaints Unit, 2nd Floor, Piccadilly Gate, Store St, Manchester M1 2WD or www.gov.uk/complain-about-school or National Helpline 0370 000 2288).

Target timings; meeting date to be offered 10 school days from receipt of the request. Once this is fixed any new material will be provided by either side at least 10 school days before the hearing. The Committee's decision together with the minutes will be sent within 10 school days from the conclusion of the hearing.

Records of complaints

Written records or emails, notes of telephone calls and interviews, minutes and the conclusions reached at the end of any stage will all be kept by the school in a secure form by the Clerk and according to the General Data Protection Regulations. The school will normally destroy complaints records after three years. A record of complaints which reach Stages 2,3 or 4 will be kept in anonymised form and reviewed annually by the governing body.

Complaints about the Head of School, Executive Headteacher, governors or the whole governing body.

These complaints follow a similar path, but complaints about the Head of School should be made in the first instance to the Executive Headteacher, and complaints about the Executive Headteacher to the Complaints Governor, who will invite the Headteacher to respond to the complainant in writing within 10 school days. The response will be sent to the complainant who will be asked to respond within 5 school days as to whether they are satisfied with the response. If they are not, the complaint will follow Stages 3 and 4 as above. Complaints about the Chair and Vice Chair of the governing body or the majority of governors should be sent to the Clerk and will be investigated as in Stage 4, either by an independent investigator from the LA or by a committee of independent governors from another school. Complaints about individual governors should also be sent to the Clerk and will be investigated by the Chair as in Stage 2.

Possible outcomes from complaints

The object of all investigation of complaints is to establish the facts about what has caused concern. This will enable the school to learn from many issues, ranging from simple misunderstandings which can be improved by better communications to failings which need to be addressed and prevented in the future.

The Headteacher may identify problems of organisation which can be addressed.

The Headteacher may arrange feedback and support to address any issues arising about a member of staff, and if they agree apologise on their behalf. However, complainants will not be informed about any disciplinary action taken against a member of staff as a result of a complaint.

The governing body may take action to improve school policy or procedures.

The school will not pay financial compensation as a response to complaints. Insurance is a matter for parents' private arrangements and the LA.

Appendix II Duplicate or serial complaints

If the school receives the same complaint from a number of different parents, we shall of course be the more concerned to deal with it as quickly as possible. We will not however take each individual complaint through all the stages of the complaints procedure, but will try to resolve the situation with one communication to all complainants.

If a complaint has already been made and dealt with under this policy we will not re-open the complaint just because it is presented (without any significant changes) by another member of the family.

If a complaint has passed through all the stages of the school's complaints procedure, that complaint will be closed, even if the complainant is unhappy with the outcome. We will not continue to respond to what is essentially the same complaint when we believe that we have taken all reasonable steps to address the concern.

Schools occasionally find themselves receiving large numbers of complaints having become the focus of a campaign on the same subject from persons mainly unconnected with the school. In those circumstances a single response would be published on the school's website.

Appendix III Unreasonable complaints

While Rackenford Primary School is committed to dealing with all complaints fairly and impartially, we do not expect our staff to tolerate unacceptable behaviour and will take action to protect them from behaviour that is abusive, offensive or threatening. RPS defines unreasonable behaviour as that which hinders our consideration of complaints by the frequency or nature of the complainant's contact with the school, such as if the complainant

- refuses to explain their complaint or its grounds or the outcomes sought, despite offers of assistance
- refuses to co-operate with the investigation progress
- raises large numbers of detailed but unimportant questions and insists that they are fully answered
- makes unjustified complaints about staff who are dealing with the issues
- changes the basis of the complaint as the investigation proceeds
- refuses to accept the findings of the investigation where the school's complaint procedure has been properly and fully implemented and completed, including referral to the Department of Education

- makes excessive demands on school time by frequent, lengthy and complicated contact with staff in person, by writing, telephone or email while the complaint is being dealt with
- uses treats or abusive, offensive or discriminatory language or violence
- knowingly provides falsified information
- publishes unacceptable information on social media or other public forums

Wherever possible, the Headteacher or Complaints Governor will discuss the school's concerns about a complainant's behaviour with them informally before taking further action. If the behaviour continues the Headteacher will write to the complainant explaining that their behaviour is unreasonable and ask them to change it. If this is not successful the school may lay down a communication plan which limits the number and nature of contacts, to be reviewed after six months.

In response to any serious incident of aggression or violence we will immediately inform the police and communicate our actions in writing. This may include barring an individual from RPS premises.

Please give details of your complaint, including whether you have spoken to anybody at the School about it

What actions do you feel might resolve the problem at this stage?

Are you attaching any paperwork? If so please give details
