Its been a fun filled week of wearing Pyjamas, party games, cooking biscuits, out for village walks, learning about changes in the setting and focusing on our story 'You're not ugly, duckling!' By Steve Smallman and Neil Price, focusing on kindness, individuality and uniqueness.

The PTFA are arranging a Christmas Fair on Friday 9th December from 4-6pm at the school. Scrapbook Project

Every half term we would like children to take part in a scrapbook project. It is something they complete at home and it is optional however, we are hoping that enough children get involved so that we can hold an exhibition for families at the end of each half term.

This half term's theme is – My Favourite Animal.

We would like children to make either an A4 or A3 page about their favourite book and they present it however they like but we would encourage them to use a range of media such as pens, paints and collage. They may also like to make their pages interactive with flaps, envelopes etc.

We can supply paper if you need it, please just contact your child's teacher or school directly.

We would like these to be handed it to school by Friday 9th December.
